

HILL, B. H.—Continued.

no greater average of crime, including Ku-Klux outrages, in Georgia than in Northern States with equal population.....	776
immigration of northern farmers and mechanics desirable; they would be welcome, and would be treated with entire respect, socially and otherwise; their political affiliations would make no difference; cites case of Captain True.....	777 facts as to social intercourse with families from the North; objections to the reconstruction measures.....	778
his hopes and misgivings for the future of Georgia; the great body of thinking men sympathize with these views.....	779 very little exodus of the colored population; knows of no contradiction to the material facts in the report of R. H. Adkinson, secretary of the executive department, relative to pardon statistics, but they do not controvert his own statements to the committee.....	780
a strong disposition upon the part of many to assail the action of the government of the State, by making an array of evil consequences and by a very liberal imputation of motives; belief that the military power of the United States has been used for blackmailing and terrorizing; thinks this largely true in Warren County, in behalf of Chap Norris; Chap Norris's reputation exceedingly execrable; would not consider him in any case a credible witness.....	781 results of his investigation in the Ashburn case, as to character, position, and the cause of his death.....	782, 784, 785, 786
the case investigated by General Meade with unusual vigor; many arrests made and the parties subjected to very rigorous confinement; this treatment went as far to imbitter the people against the Government as any one act that ever occurred.....	782 universal belief that the torture of the sweat-box was resorted to for the purpose of obtaining testimony; utter disregard of the ordinary protection of defendants in such a case; prosecution finally broken down, and the prisoners released; military authority makes investigation into cases of alleged violation of private contracts, enforcing the civil rights of the citizens without regard to the civil tribunals.....	783 effect of the reconstruction measures and the policy of the Government toward the State.....	784 thinks Dr. Ayer was killed by a negro for money.....	785
the Ku-Klux have punished persons who have committed no improprieties, and have originated charges against their victims.....	786
many republicans are Ku-Klux; in some counties a majority of them; cites a case in Chattooga County; has heard of a number of republicans outraged by the Ku-Klux, but of no democrat; some of the injuries inflicted upon radicals self-inflicted, for the purpose of stirring up feeling in the North.....	787
these cases few in number.....	788 burning of Mr. Holliday's mill property and cotton-gin.....	789, 790
many of the Ku-Klux outrages committed for private ends.....	788 believes Dr. Darden was killed by the Ku-Klux; his views in general as to the organizations, the parties concerned and individual cases cited; it is time that these outrages ought to be put an end to by some power.....	789
while some have been afraid to make application for justice, there has been no reason for that fear; the people have not had a fair opportunity to exercise their own power to rectify these abuses in the State generally; no reason why justice should not be done in Floyd County.....	790
his speech delivered before the Young Men's Democratic Union, October 13, 1868.....	791-79
address before the Society of Alumni, University of Georgia, July 31, 1871.....	799-80
