NORRIS, JOHN C., testimony of	193-233
has been living in Atlanta since March, 1869; previously resided at Warrenton, Warren County; a native of the State; was engaged before and during the war in manufacturing boots and shoes, in Warrenton; did not carry on business after the war, as his course during the war had rendered him unpopular; had been a whig, then a republican; was elected sheriff	193 parties decline to go upon his bond as sureties, unless he would agree to support Seymour and Blair	194, 215 senator Adkins becomes his surety; attempt to set aside his bond, by General Toombs and Mr. Pottle; was threatened by the Ku-Klux organization, which, he thinks, first appeared in 1866	194 general character and operations of the organization at its first appearance; commenced to whip and kill the latter part of 1867, to try to control the election	165
was advised by his friends to resign his office, as there was an organization that did not intend any radical should hold office, and that he might be killed	195, 196
asks General Meade to send a few troops to the county	196 was waylaid and shot by disguised men, of whom he recognizes two	196, 197, 218, 219
the shooting was done by a regular order of the Klan, and was for the sin of being a radical office-holder; is again advised to resign	197 killing of Wallace, editor, and captain of the Ku-Klux organization, by Doctor Darden; the imprisonment of the latter by the crowd; his forcible taking therefrom and subsequent murder	197-201, 220, 221 discharge of parties charged with rape, by order of the prosecutor, Mr. Pottle	198, 199
General Ruger sends some troops down; arrests eight charged with the murder of Doctor Darden; the parties give bail, and have never been tried	201, 221, 222, 223
true bills found against witness for the false imprisonment of these men	201, 226 was pardoned by the governor; removed to Atlanta, and his office turned over to a man named Wright, appointed by General Terry or the court	202 case of Martin, charged with being accessory to the murder of Dr. Darden; investigated before military commission, and the propositions and agreements for its settlement; and proceedings thereon	202-206, 223-233 has remained in Atlanta; does not dare to go back to Warrenton; the Ku-Klux have kept up their operations there ever since	206 killing of Wash Hull, in Hancock County; many colored people forced to leave the county	207 killing of Senator Adkins	207, 208, 231 attack upon Perry Jeffers and family by the Ku-Klux; killing of Geisland and the wounding of several in the attack; Jeffers and his sons placed in the jail for safety; killing of his sick son by the Ku-Klux, and the burning of his body; hanging of Mrs. Jeffers	209 subsequent killing of Jeffers, and five or six of his sons	210, 21

colored man whipped to death by the Ku-Klux	211, 217, 218 killing of a colored man at Bell Springs; killing of a colored man at Mr. Fowler's and Mr. Long's; any amount of whipping in Warrenton; killing of a colored man by Wallace, and one by Shirley	211
these negroes killed for being "bad negroes"	211, 212
the Ku-Klux organizations are now in existence and in full blast; and the men whipped or killed universally belong to the radical party; never knew or heard of a radical belonging to the organization	212 opinion of the radicals and of the other side, as to the organization	212, 213 their purpose is to control the State government and negro labor, by preventing voting and any republican from holding office; the negroes in terror at their operations; if an election were now held not one half of them would vote; no one prosecuted for these offenses; the people afraid to prosecute or testify	213 effect of the organization in respect to negroes trading in land and other property	213, 214 demeanor of the colored people humble and obedient; knows of no cases of stealing by negroes to any extent; burning of a negro accused of rape at the stake, in Louisville, Jefferson County; the negroes are obedient and law abiding	214
comparative vote, white and colored, of Warren County	215, 231
has seen disguised men in the town in the latter part of 1867, 1868, and 1869	218
the whites own all the property in Warren County; and that a great deal of the labor has been run off	219, 220
the negroes were in great dread of the Ku-Klux at the beginning of 1870, and have not been relieved of it up to this time	232
